

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A steering column assembly for a vehicle includes upper and lower column assemblies and a central collapsible steering column drive shaft mounted in upper and lower bearings and a central bearing comprising a cylindrical plastics tube that surrounds the steering column and is slidably mounted in the upper column assembly and rotatably supports the central collapsible steering column at its lower end.

00007802-A111201